SYNOPSIS

Don't Date Murderers is a true crime comedy podcast about JoJo Putty, a host who helps people investigate the romantic red flags they're too lovestruck, lonely, or frightened to face.

Every episode begins with a listener's relationship concern: a charming boyfriend, a suspicious ex, a too-perfect widower, a date whose stories don't add up. JoJo turns it into a case. Interviews, field recordings, expert guests, and her own grimly comic logic decide whether the person in question is harmless, horrible, or homicidal.
